9:00am - 10:30am: Session 1

Genre Writing in the Primary Grades

Presenter: Carrie Johnston

Do you want your students to enjoy writing? Are you hoping to increase their fluency writing in different subject areas? Do you struggle with how to increase the conventional accuracy of their texts without stifling their voice? Carrie Johnston will share ideas about teaching different genres and across different subjects. Her workshop will also touch on using partner talk to help student writers construct ideas and narratives.

The Civil Rights Movement and The Problem We Live With

Presenter: Carla Williams Namboodiri

This workshop focuses on school desegregation from a range of perspectives, and examines changes and continuities reflecting how racism and segregation have an impact on our schools. We will share the experience of the Little Rock Nine and probe how laws today enforce racial disparities in education. This workshop will use interactive exercises to give participants a teaching toolkit on the effects of racism and segregation.

10:45am - 12:15pm: Session 2

Poetic License: Modelling Content-Based Creative Writing

Presenter: Katie Libby

In this interactive workshop, participants will explore a variety of creative poetry writing lessons that not only harness students' creativity and unique perspectives, but also deepen their grasp of academic vocabulary and content knowledge. Utilizing mentor texts, workshop participants will explore lessons from English and History courses, engage in creative writing practice and examine student written poems. Scaffolded lessons with mentor texts from Langston Hughes, Allen Ginsberg, Walter Dean Myers, Immortal Technique and Rodolfo "Corky" Gonzales will be provided.

Respect the Architects: Building Writer's Voice through Explication and Excavation

Presenter: Mark Ali

Where do Cardi B, Peter Elbow, Michael Harriot, Biz Markie, David Walker, Paul Beatty, Ralph Ellison, and Viet Thanh Nguyen convene? They all intersect at The Architects Project. Experience how students explore diverse influences as they develop voice as writers by exercising critical thinking, and employing careful thought. This interactive workshop integrates mixed media, discussion, writing, and witnessing students as practitioners.
