

WEEKEND WORKSHOPS

2018 - 2019

Get the blueprints
for classroom
ready lessons

More information:

www.bayareawritingproject.org

Each date includes
your choice of 2 out of 4 workshops
all led by BAWP Teacher Consultants
8:30 am - 12:30 pm
Each date only $20

October 13, 2018

Writing Strategies for Language Development

Classrooms are filled with students who are linguistically and culturally diverse. These workshops will explore language features and support language production for all learners. Teachers will experience rich language writing strategies and tools to provide targeted instruction for various levels of language fluency.

February 9, 2019

Common Core: Writing Across the Disciplines

Writing has never been the exclusive domain of English teachers. Common Core reinforces the importance of consistently embedding writing into content lessons across disciplines. Writing opportunities provide students space to make sense of ideas and build comfort with the kinds of writing that exist in different disciplines. Workshops will focus on routines, strategies and tools for understanding content and developing composition skills.

April 13, 2018

Voice, Identity, Access and Equity

Classrooms can provide courageous spaces for exploring collective and individual identities. Writing often plays a critical role in this exploration and provides a humanizing lens through which students can see each others' experiences. These workshops will focus on strategies, protocols and content that support students to contribute their stories, share their truths and invite others into conversation through writing.

